

Facts about youth vaping in Oklahoma

1 in 4

Oklahoma high schoolers report vaping in the last 30 days.

Many prominent e-cigarette products contain more nicotine than an entire pack
of cigarettes.

60% of vape users between
the ages of 15 and 24
reported wanting to quit
within a year.

TSET funds a FREE youth vape cessation program called My Life, My Quit.
Teens looking to quit can visit MyLifeMyQuit.com.

Big Tobacco targets teens with kid-friendly flavors and youth-oriented social media advertising, leading to action from the Food and Drug Administration and Federal Trade Commission.

Oklahoma law does not require a retail license or permit to sell vape products. Unlike most states, Oklahoma does not include vapes in the definition of a tobacco product, and they are not subject to the tobacco tax.
